For his constant help and encouragement,
For his dedicated leadership,
For his quiet understanding,
The staff of the 1973 Shield
dedicates this yearbook to
QUINTON DEAN CHILDERS

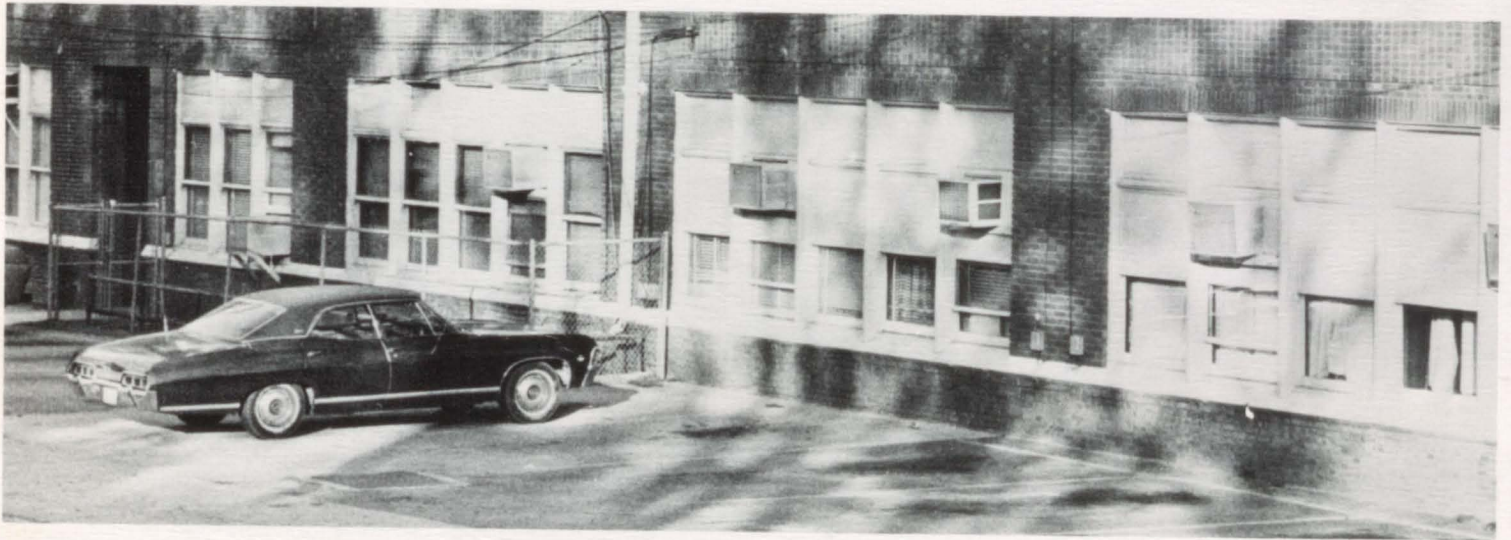

You cannot make remembrance grow

When it has lost its root.

The tightening the soil around

And setting it upright

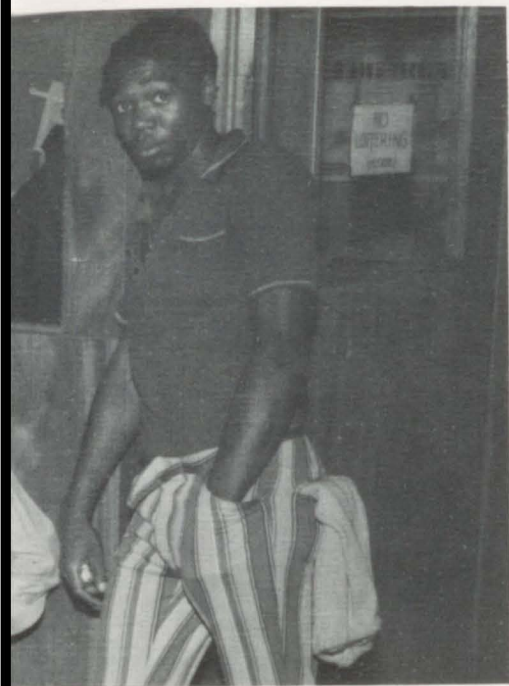

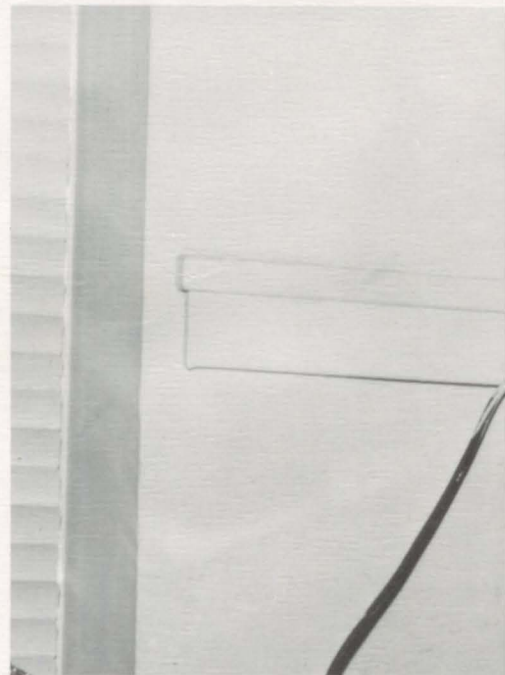

Deceives perhaps the universe

But not retrieves the plant;

Real memory, like cedar feet,

Is shod with adamant.

Nor can you cut remembrance down

When it shall once have grown

Its iron buds will sprout anew

However overthrown.

Remember

. . . 1972-73

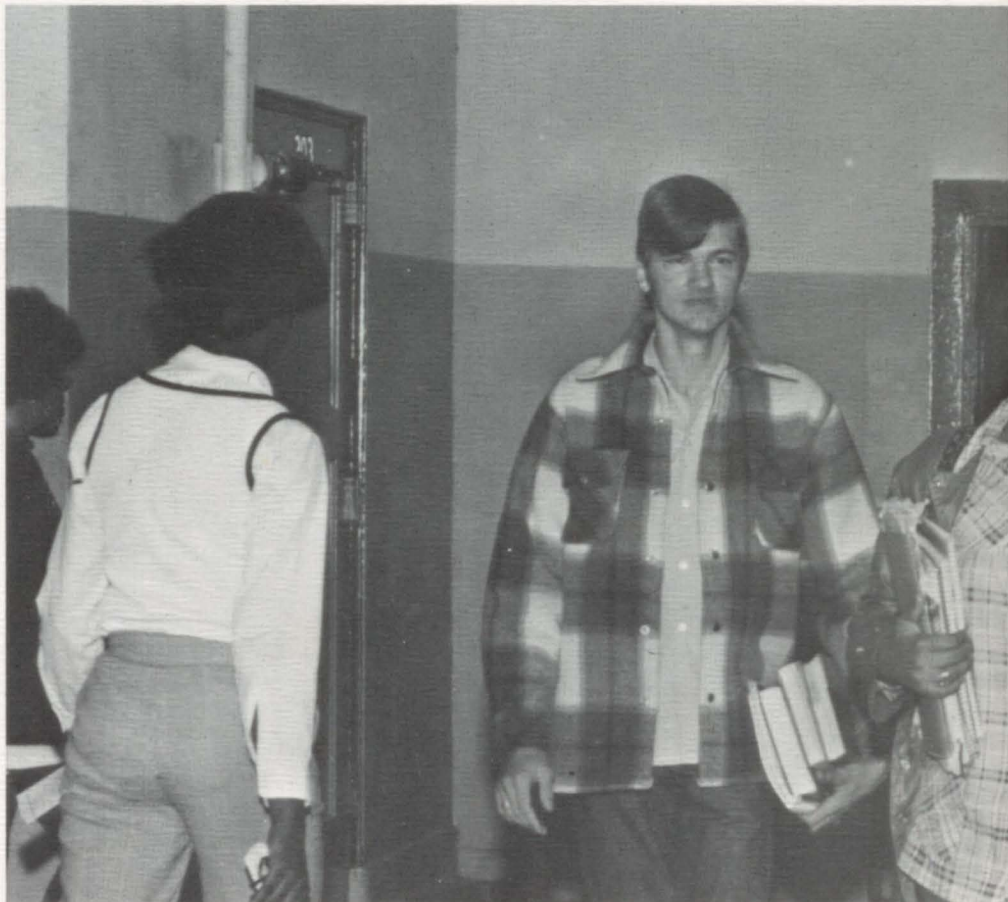

As time to begin another day of learning approaches, the outside of Bibb Tech empties.

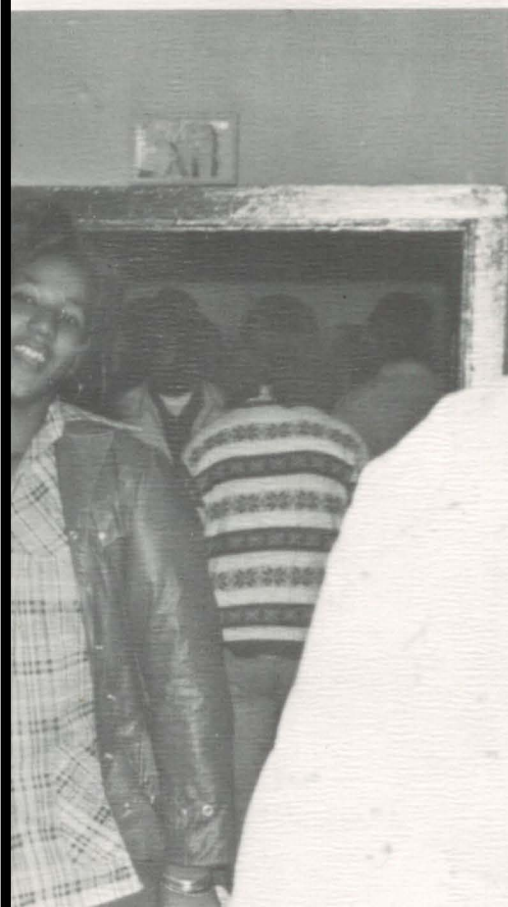

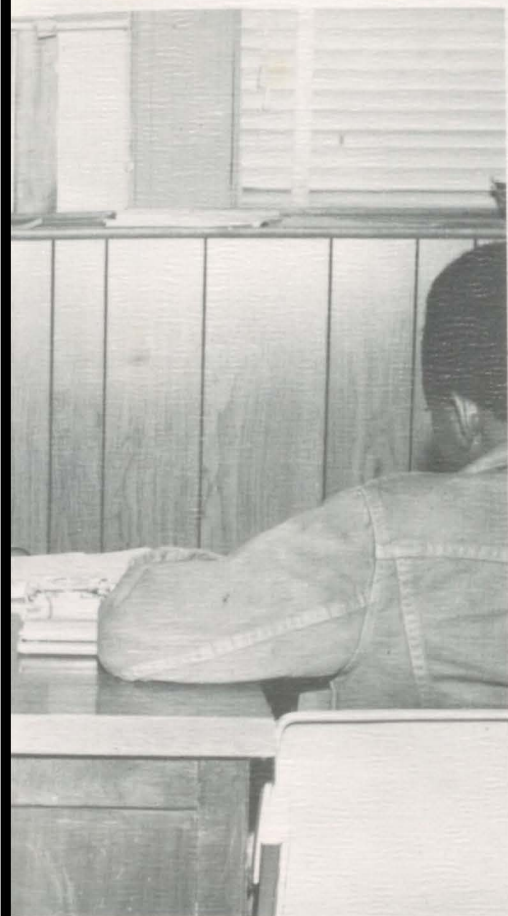

Some students get books from lockers while others take a last drag,

Mr. Watkins prepares to face another busy day, and teachers review their plans.

The day begins early for Mr. Jones, hard at work before others arrive. Some students get to school early enough for a 7:50 class and an empty parking place, while others rush in at the last minute.

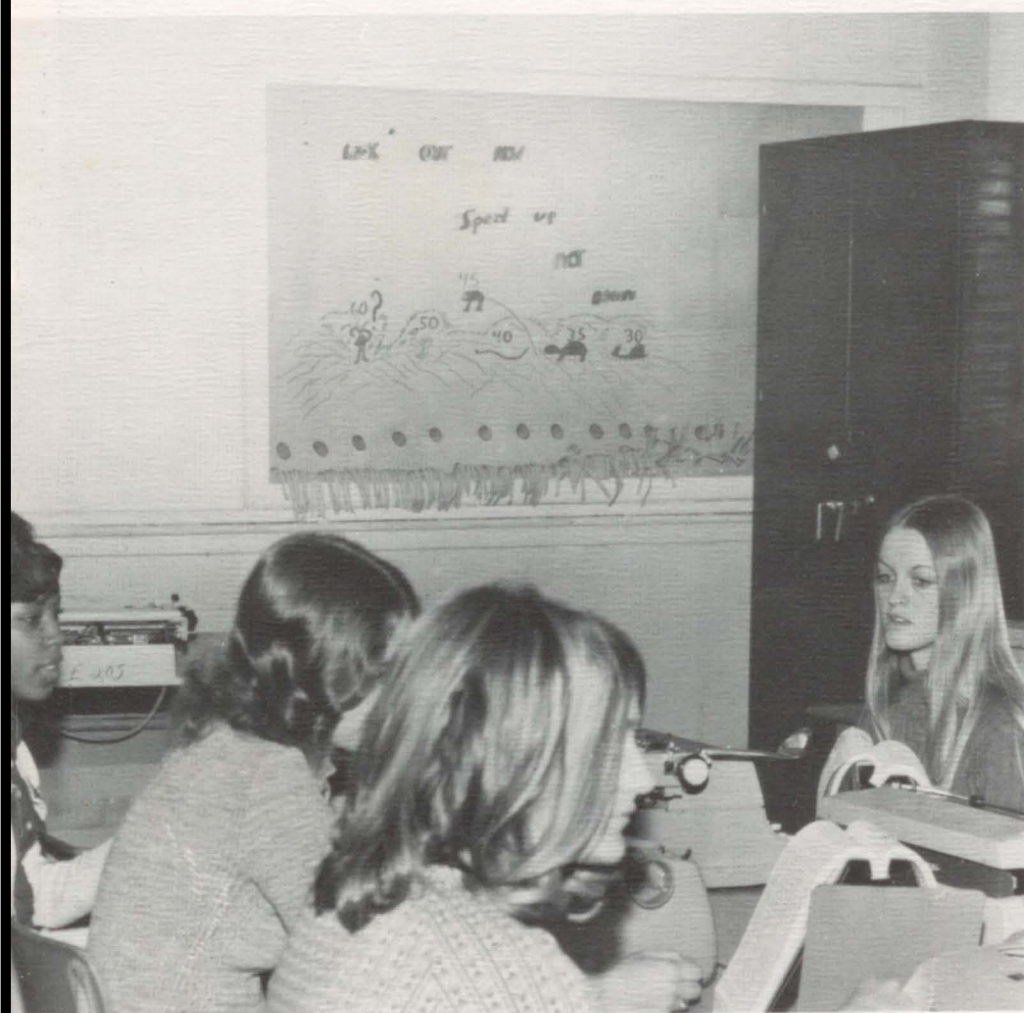

School gets underway early for some students, while others make the most of the last few minutes before homeroom.

Active class participation pays off in the gaining of useful skills.
Even lunchtime can be a learning experience, as can a new floor.

Key Club sponsored its annual program to recognize the Student of the Year, DONNY FOSTER; Secretary of the Year, KATHRYN HARRISON; Teacher of the Year, CAROL HENSON; and Administrator of the Year, COLUMBUS WATKINS.

Assemblies highlight morning activities at Bibb Tech. Many students enjoyed the address given by Cleve McCrary, Vietnam Veteran.

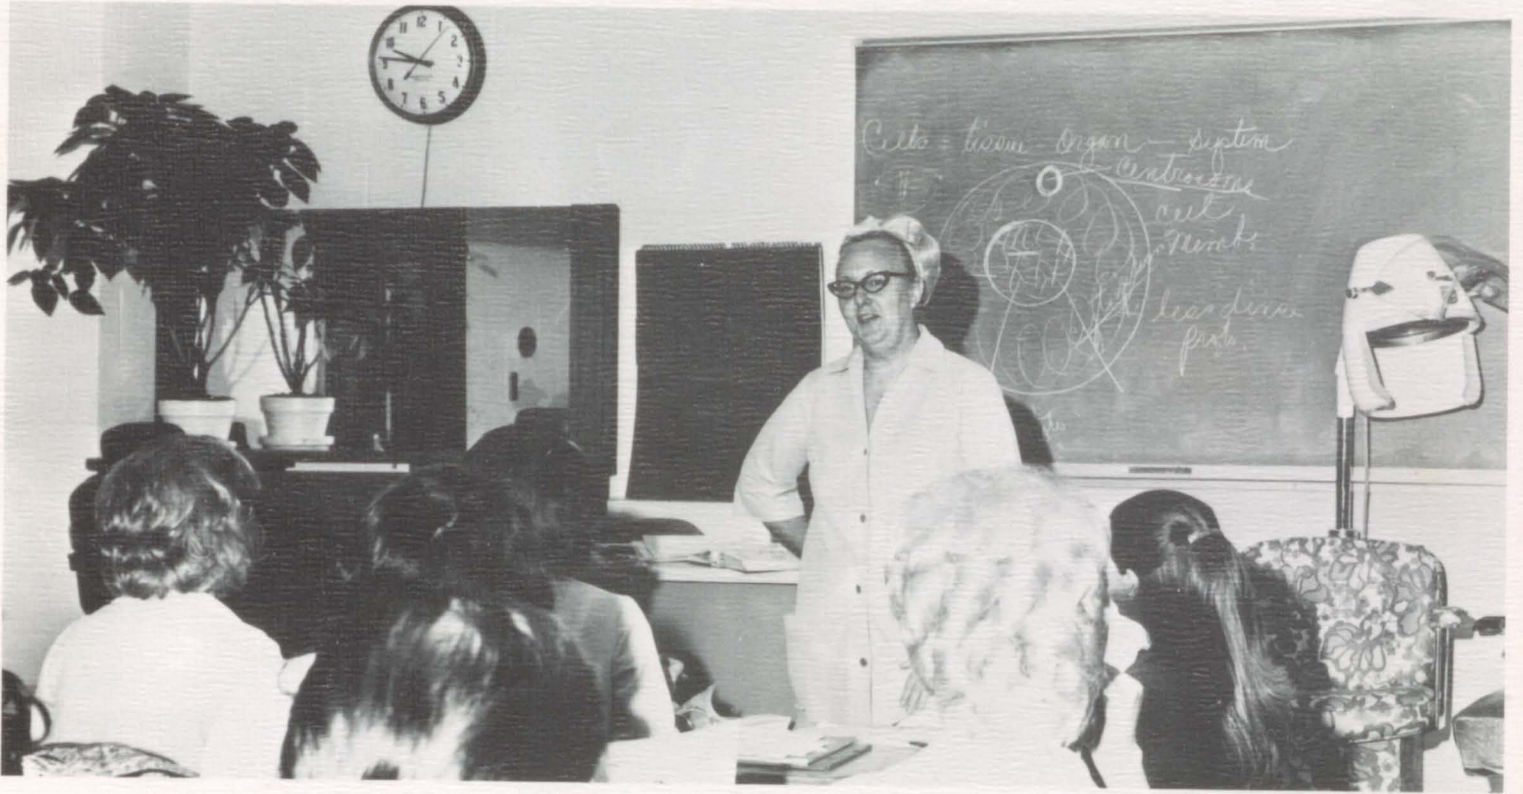

The yearbook staff sponsored a program to encourage students to subscribe to the 1973 Shield.

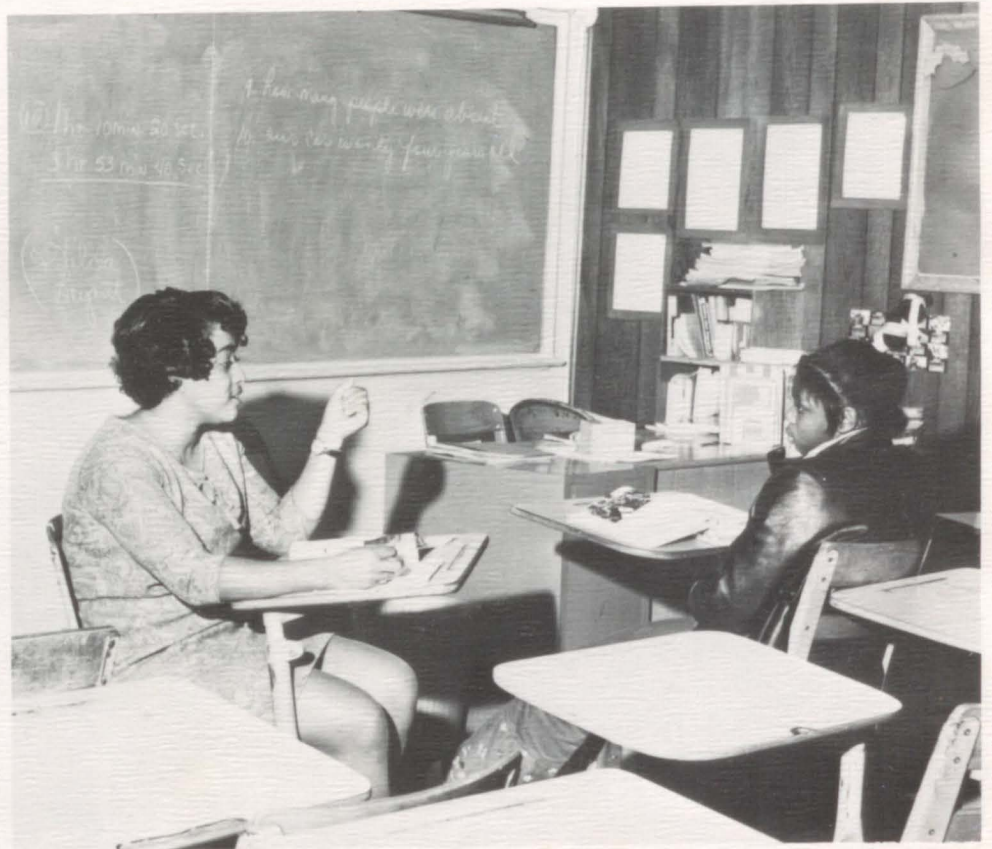

The school day includes a variety of activities. Daisy Park and the lunchroom are popular places. The 1972-73 Student Council is more active than ever.

The school day includes a variety of activities, from participation in Student Council projects to classes and conferences with teachers.

A school day sometimes offers time for quiet study; participation in worthwhile activities such as the Thanksgiving Drive, and interesting class projects.

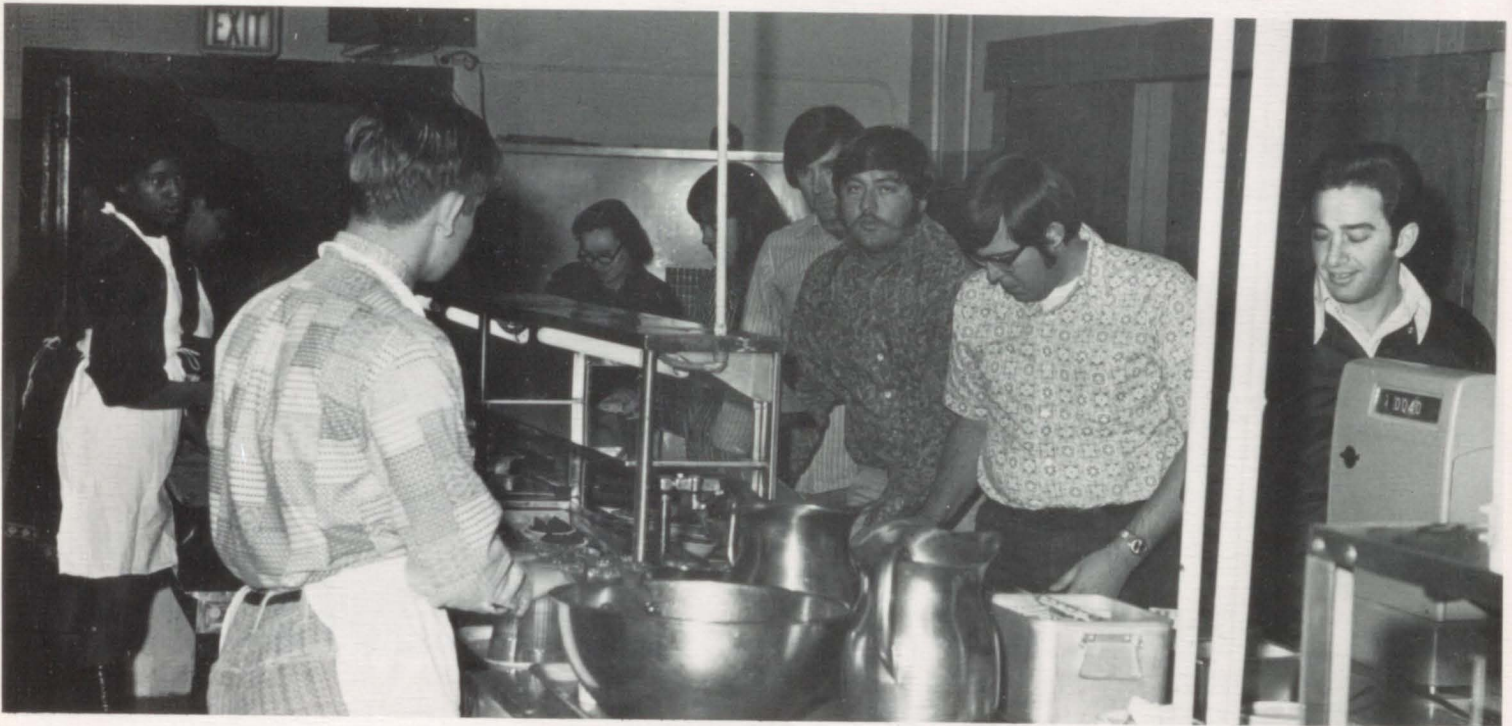

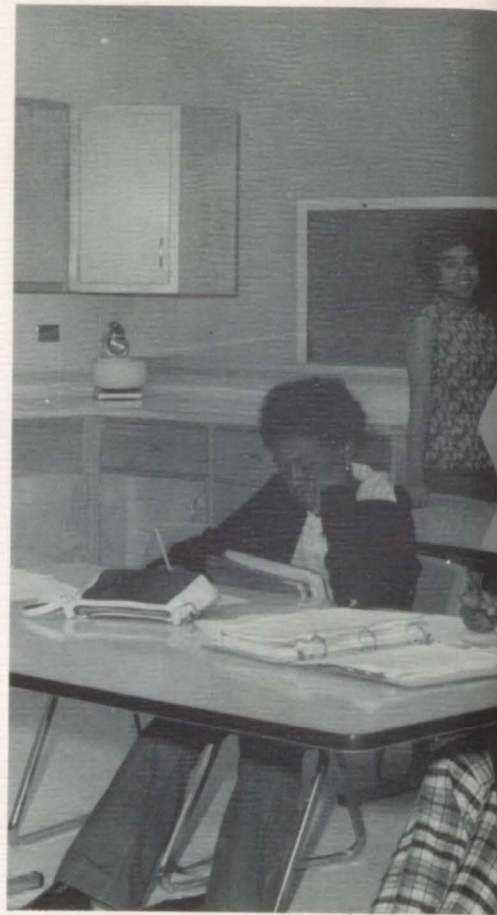

The morning hours include a variety of activities — classes such as Physical Education, English, and Homemaking, as well as special programs.

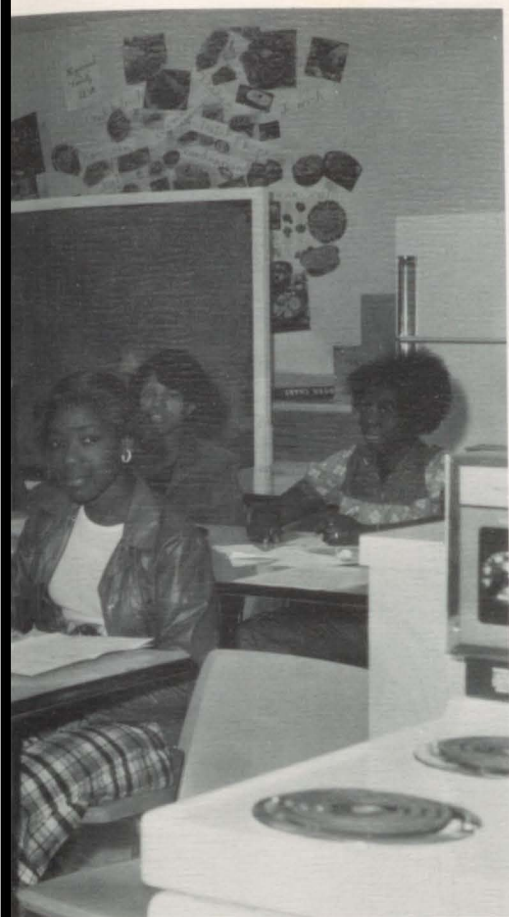

Lunch . . .

*A welcome
break from classes.*

*As students finish classes,
they sign out for work. Others remain until later in the day.*

FBLA — a busy organization

FBLA officers were installed by Mr. Childers at a breakfast.

New FBLA members played interesting games as part of initiation.

FBLA rats.

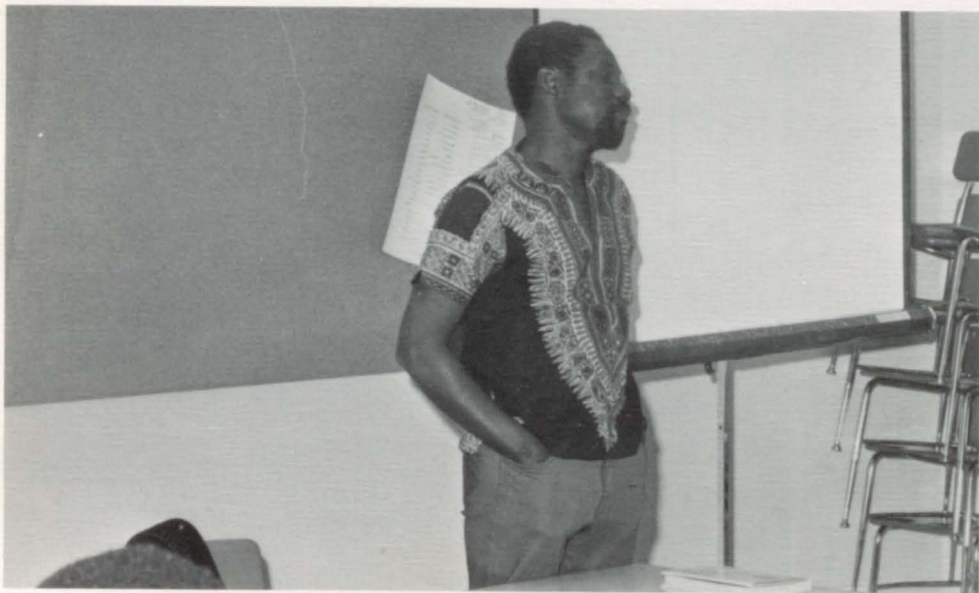

Lloyd Stembridge played Santa Claus when FBLA visited Kitchens Intermediate Care Center as a Christmas project.

Mr. Duyck participated in FBLA initiation.

Afternoon Activities

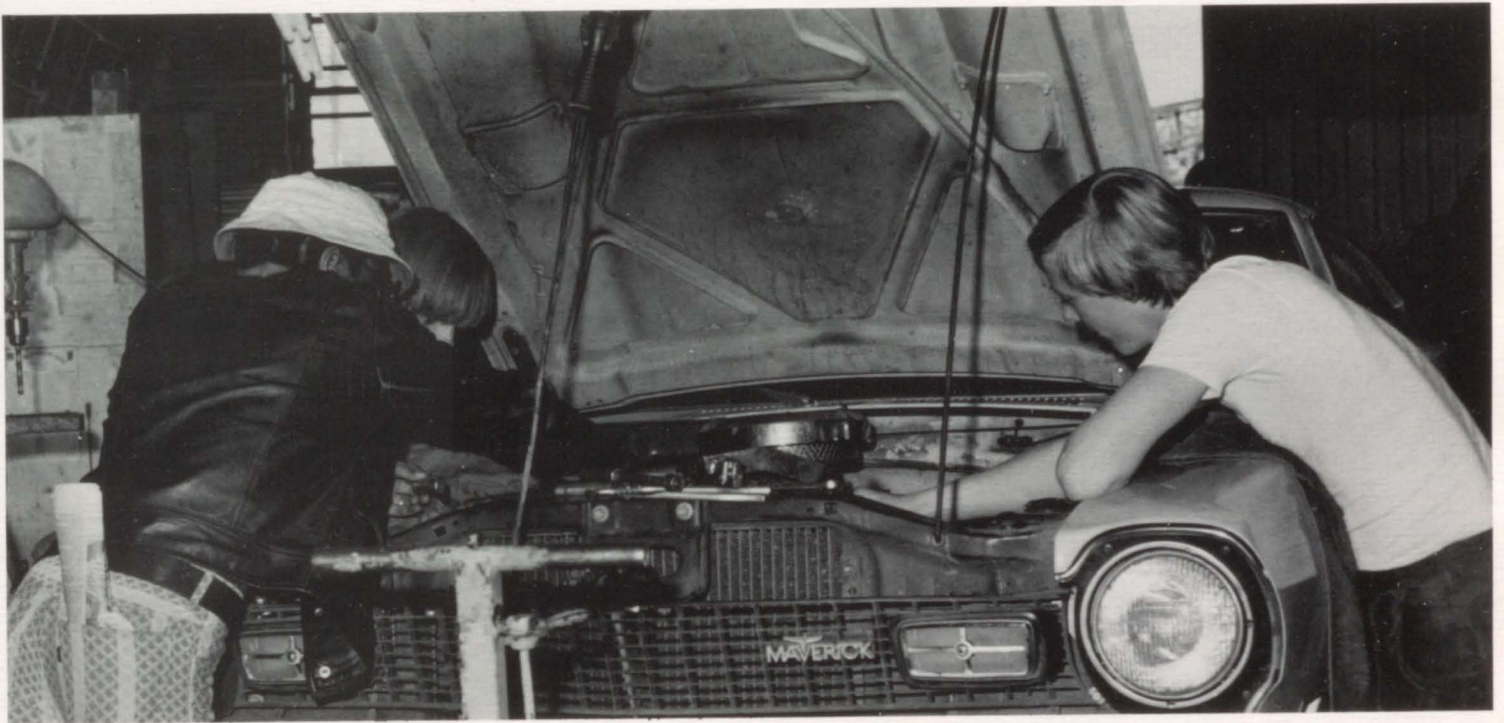

Fred Kwisia Hayford spoke on Afro-American history.

Mrs. Ensley, IBM composer, pauses a moment during a busy day in the print shop.

Auto Shop students learn a skill that will enable them to earn good pay.

Students learn a valuable skill in machine shop.

Miss Springstead meets with homecoming candidates.

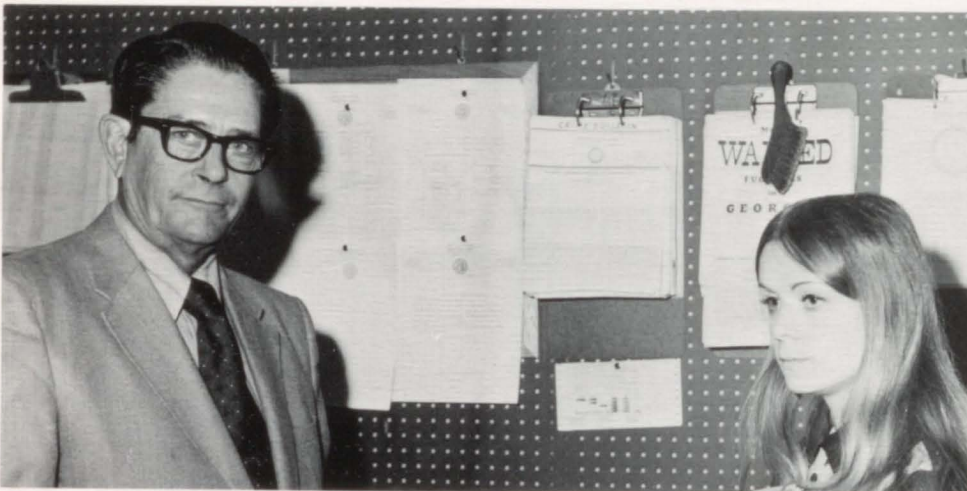

Members of the Academy Theatre visited classes in December and January, and held afternoon workshops for students and teachers.

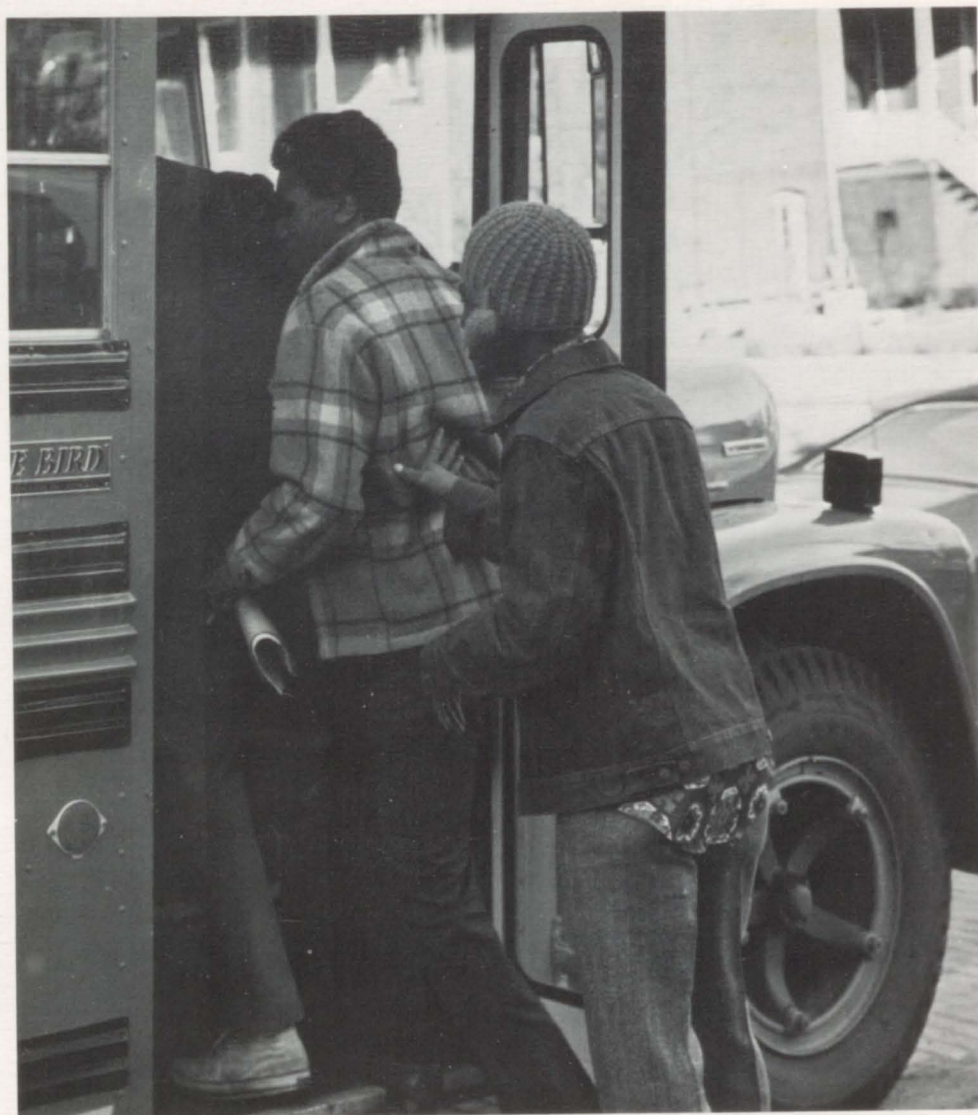

Bynum Johnston, printing instructor, studies a work order.

STUDENT COUNCIL visited City Hall and the Bibb County Courthouse to see local government in action.

The end of a school day means crowds of students boarding busses.

Macon's own "Blue Moon" Odum was honored by Bibb Tech's Student Council.

Bibb Tech students worked long and hard on our float for the "Blue Moon" Odom Parade. Official Oakland "A's" uniforms were flown to Macon, and worn by Student Council members. We are especially proud of Robert "Dad" Slocum, who coached "Blue Moon" in high school.

February 9, 1973

Macon had a record-breaking snow.
School was dismissed early, and was cancelled on Monday and Tuesday.

Lady Wolverines Are Best Yet

Bibb Tech's girls won the 1972 Tom Porter Christmas Tournament, bringing home a beautiful trophy to add to those on display in our gym.

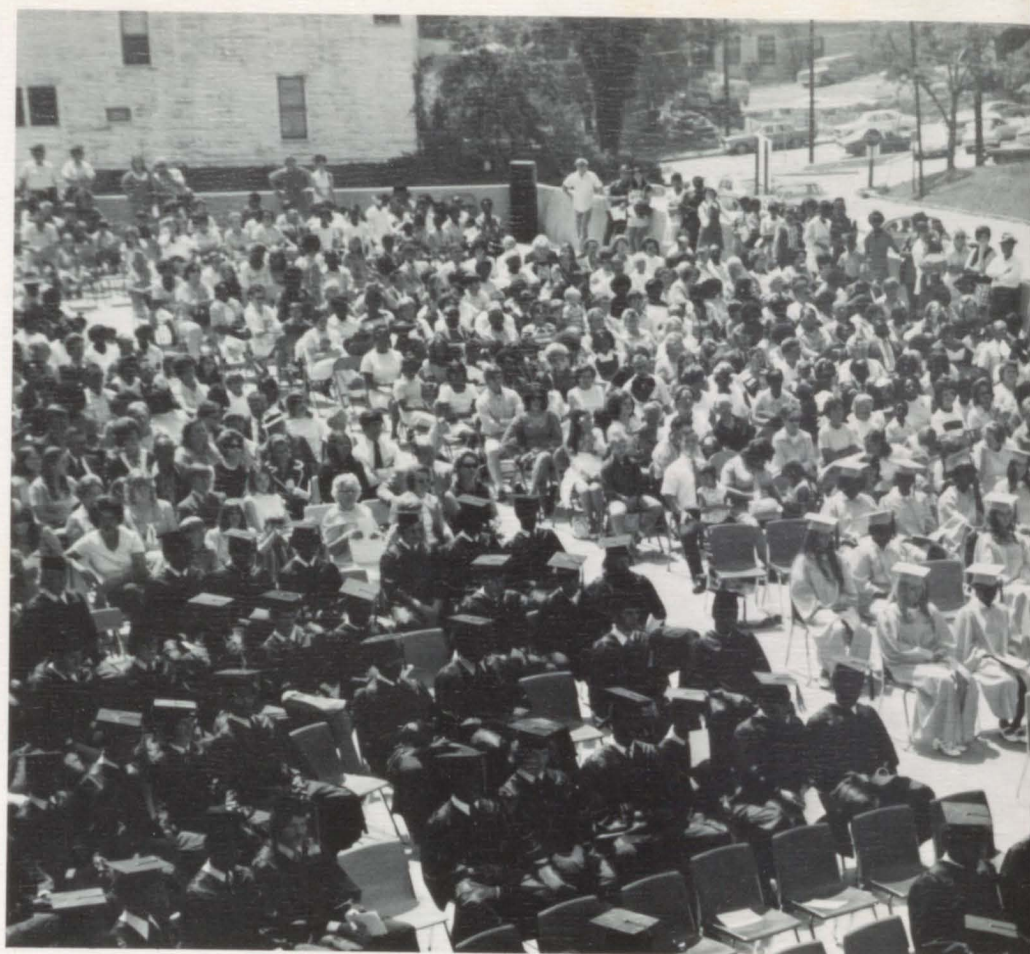

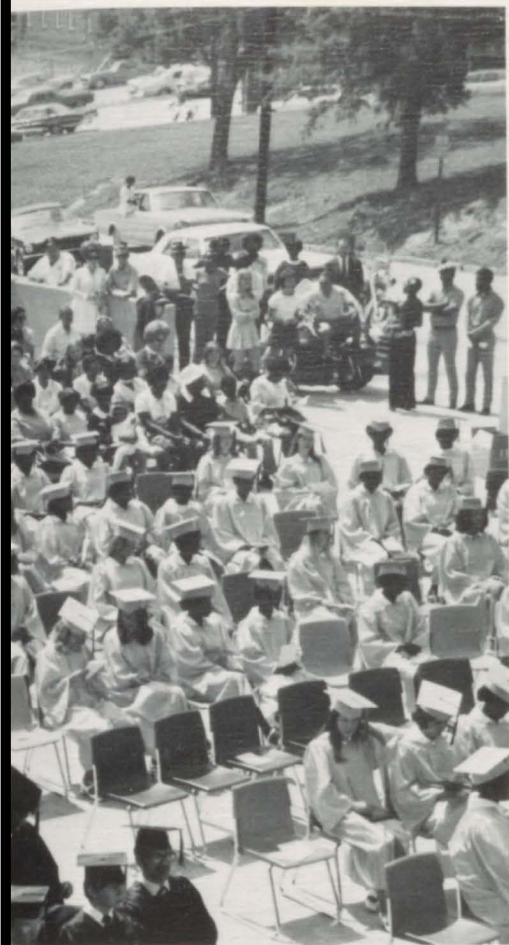

19 Wins — 5 Losses
Lady Wolverines — Best Season Ever

The girls had a highly successful 1972-73 season, highlighted by the 78-17 defeat of Mary Persons High School. Senior Sandy Evans scored a record 53 points in the big victory.

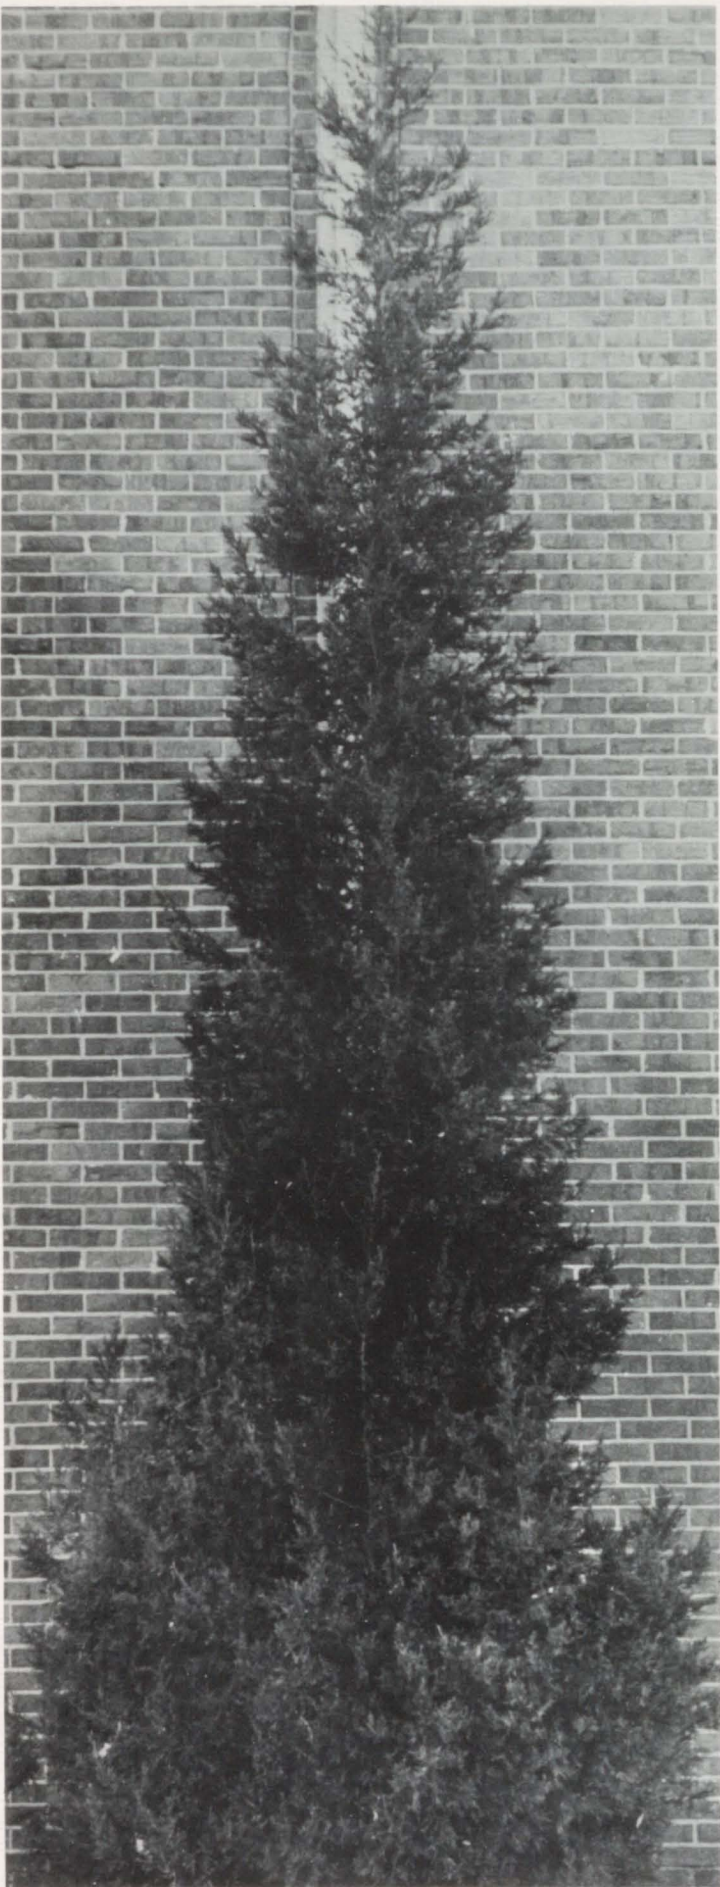

Graduation 1972. It almost didn't happen, but after twelve long years, the class of '72 marched across the stage. A perfect June day enhanced the outdoor ceremony, held on the parking ramp of our new gymnasium.
